Seven partners. Two days. The moment the platform became real.

In May 2026, the DEIMAN4FINANCE consortium met in Barcelona for the project's Learning, Teaching and Training Activity. For two days, partners worked through the courses with the learning materials in front of them, stress-testing the content and working through what it actually feels like to learn this material as a finance professional.

What the team brought to Barcelona

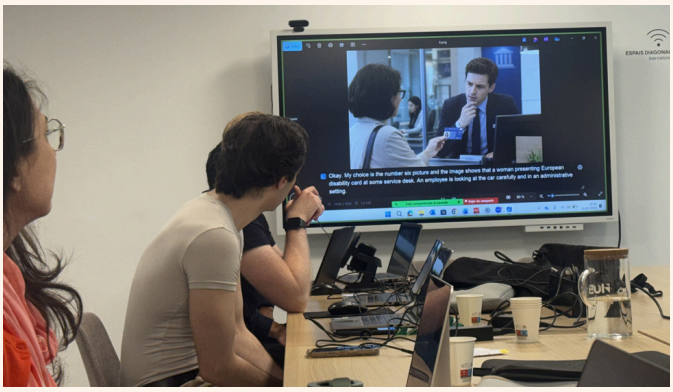

The Barcelona session was the first real test of the full WP2 output. Over the previous twelve months, partners had built the methodological framework for the entire training offer, developed five module syllabi covering disability and workplace accessibility, gender discrimination in finance, multicultural competence, inclusive language and cognitive bias reduction, and EU regulation on work inclusion. They had configured the Moodle-based learning platform and designed the Open Badges ecosystem that allows professionals to earn and carry recognised credentials for each module.

What happened in Barcelona

The LTTA wasn't a conference. It was a working and training session. Partners went through micro-credential courses, flagged friction points, and ran structured feedback rounds on the learning materials. The goal was simple: make sure that what professionals experience in August is sharper than what existed in April.

Funded by the European Union. Views and opinions expressed are however those of the author(s) only and do not necessarily reflect those of the European Union or the European Education and Culture Executive Agency (EACEA). Neither the European Union nor EACEA can be held responsible for them.

Co-funded by the European Union

What comes next: the pilot phase

Starting this summer, 75 professionals across three countries will spend August to September working through the DEIMAN4FINANCE courses as part of the external pilot test phase. They are from the financial sector, exactly the audience the programme was built for. Their feedback will shape the final version of the platform before the multiplier events launch in autumn.

If you are working in financial services and want to know more about the platform or the pilot, visit https://deiman4finance.eu/ and follow us on Facebook and LinkedIn. Newsletter 3 will report on what those 75 professionals actually said.

Visit us: https://deiman4finance.eu/

Funded by the European Union. Views and opinions expressed are however those of the author(s) only and do not necessarily reflect those of the European Union or the European Education and Culture Executive Agency (EACEA). Neither the European Union nor EACEA can be held responsible for them.

Co-funded by the European Union